

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A sentence forming board game and its associated method of play. The game apparatus utilizes a board that defines a plurality of spaces. Some of the spaces are identified as specialty spaces. Players are provided a plurality of playing pieces that have a word printed on them. The words printed on the various game pieces are interrelated in that they share a common topic theme. Players are given a starting number of playing pieces. When it is a player's turn, that player tries to form or alter a sentence on the game board using the playing pieces in hand. If a player does form a sentence, that player gets points proportional to the complexity of the sentence that is formed.